Crow Family, Swan and Geese Have Long Life

The birds that live the longest are members of the crow tribe, and the swans and geese. A swan has been known to live one hundred and fifty years. The length of life of smaller birds such as the titmice and warblers would probably be six or eight years, but there is a doubtful record of a sparrow living for forty years.

Many birds return to the same spot for nesting, season after season, and because these sites have been used continuously for a great number of years observers have concluded that this tells their age. But a pair of birds may use a site for say, six years, until one dies; then the survivor obtains another mate and takes it to the old site. A few years later the other bird dies, and another mate is found, and so within fifty years a dozen different birds may use the same nesting site.—Tit-Bits, Magazine.

Hardy Youngsters

Most young birds, when they leave the shell, are rather helpless. It may be many days before they are able to use their limbs, but the young Norfolk plovers can run with ease a few hours after they emerge from the eggs. These youngsters, which live on the ground, have many enemies, but Nature has clothed them in sand-colored down with several black lines, and it would be difficult to find a more cleverly camouflaged creature. The instant danger threatens each youngster will squat flat on the ground and remain motionless until the "all-clear" note from the parents is heard. If they should be attacked by a stoat or weasel, the mother will play the broken wing trick.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Meaning of Horse Power

Horse power is an arbitrary unit for measuring mechanical energy, and one horse power is equal to the power it would take to lift 33,000 pounds one foot in one minute. Indicated horse power is the power derived inside a cylinder of an engine as calculated from the various known factors, while brake horse power is the actual power delivered by an engine or motor. By practical test it was found that the average horse could work constantly at an average rate of 22,000 foot pounds per minute, and this was increased one half when arbitrarily made a unit of measurement.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Living Ex-Presidents

The largest number of former Presidents out of office and living at any one time was in the period from the retirement of Buchanan in March, 1861, to the death of Tyler in January, 1862, when Van Buren, Tyler, Filmore, Pierce and Buchanan were all in the land of the living. Twice at short intervals the country has been without an ex-President. The country was left without a former chief executive the first time from the death of Johnson, July 31, 1875, to the retirement of Grant, March 4, 1877, and the second time from the death of Cleveland, June 24, 1908, to the end of Roosevelt's term, March 4, 1909.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to those who extended their kindnsss and sympathy to us at the death of our dear son and brother Clifford. We especially wish to thank the people of Stillwell and Marlinton for the use of their cars and the beautiful flowers that were given.—Mr and Mrs E. A. Shrout and Family.

BEULAH

The people of Beulah Church, on the Back Creek, in Highland County, are noted for their inclination toward music and their proficiency in its artful expression. As instances, note among others the Herolds, Stephensons, Gilmores and Birds. They all over there have been reading in the Pocahontas Times paper of the return of the good old time custom of meeting the people together for a service of sacred music on Sabbath afternoons. Beulah Church is never behind in any good work, so they accepted the proposal of Clyde Herold to stir about and try out one of those community song services which have proven so popular and worth while over across the imaginary line in Pocahontas county. They went at the matter in the old Virginians never tire way of doing things. Last Sunday afternoon was time set, and it went over big and strong. Over a thousand people crowded the church, and over flowed the big grounds; the spacious parking places were filled with two or three hundred automobiles. Singers were there from Windy Cove, Durbin, Cass, Crabbottom, Monterey, Warm Springs and elsewhere, to show the note it is sung with. However let it be said that none of them ha' a thing on the quartet from the hostess church, Buelah nor did any body put anything over on the two community boys, Hanson and David Bird, in the rendering of a duet. Do not ever think men of grandfather class have no music left in their souls, nor that they are no longer capable of giving expression to it.

I have ever had a personal interest in Beulah Church. My father, the late Dr W. T. Price, was a member of the commission of Lexington Presbytery to formally organize this church, over sixty years ago. Beulah is another one of those stalwart churches from the fruitful work of fourteen years my father lived as a home missionary in the Jacksons River watershed. I can easily think that not a few of the churches built up by my father, began with singing classes. He had the gift to lead, to teach and to enthuse.

A story my father enjoyed telling was a remark by a good mother in Israel of Beulah. She objected to the young minister smoking. She saw him smoking a ciger. She said it was just another case of fire at one end and fool at the other.

The program Sunday was as laid down in the scripture and so my place was away to the last when the people were explected to be well drunken in song. No one rose up to remark that the good wine had been saved to the last, either. One plain blunt man did say deafness prevented him from hearing a word I said. There is compensation in every thing and there are cases where inability to hear is no affliction. For, did nyt Cousin Charley Cleek tell me just as kindly as he could that he certainly was sorry that I was getting to talk more and more like a holy roller each time he heard me?

It certainly was an enjoyable to be received so generously by these fine people. There is much yet to be written of this Beulah land when I can get to it but space crowds now. However comment needs must be made of unique, impressive welcoming words from young Mr Dever. With voice and ferver of an orator he spoke that psalm of David, beginning, "Make a joyful noise unto the Lord! . . . Come before His Presence with singing."

Dear Editor -We had a lovely trip on the fine road over the beautiful Alleghanies to old Beulah Church, Sunday morning. We hurried to get an early start, to travel in the cool of the day and have time to enjoy the beautiful scenery—a mountain country clothed inrobes of living green.

We arrived at the historic old church at the Sunday School hour. We enjoyed sitting in the Bible class, though it was with folks I had never seen before. My mind went back to recall so many of the old people of this community. It was a pleasant half hour that preceded a truly delightful preaching service by Rev. Hauck.

Then up the beautiful valley to the home of my old friend and schoolmate, Mrs. Dolly Ralston. I was so delighted she was able to go back to the church to the lovely singing exercises.

It was gratifying to see so many from the Pocahontas side of the mountain—representatives from several of our communities. The friendly cooperation of the people, the beautiful day and the hearty welcome of the chairman made all feel good.

Then upstepped our genial friend and editor, Calvin W. Price for a talk. He said some real nice things.

So a pleasant day ended by every one starting home for rest and memories. Here is hoping that many more such pleasant gatherings will come about.

Mrs. M. E. Acord.

MILLPOINT

An all day song service with dinner on the ground was held in the grove at Marvin Chapel last Sunday, July 16. There were singers and musicans from Fayette county and Greenbrier county; from Slaty Fork, Marlinton, Huntersvilles, Onoto and other points in Pocahontas county. A profitable and enjoyable time was had by all who attended.

This meeting was arranged by Fred Ruckman, who conducted it to a successful close. Through his persistent effort and with the cooperation of the people of Marvin Chapel community, the monthly song service has become an institution. Each year an all day meeting is held. The recent one was one of the largest and best to be attempted.

The regular community song service will be held at Edray Church, Sunday afternoon, July 23, at 2:30 o'clock. Everyone invited to attend these services.

METHODIST YOUNG PEOPLE'S CAMP—

At a joint meeting of the department councils of the Young People's Division of the Methodist Church, held Monday evening, it was decided that a camp for all the young people of the church be held at the Fairgrounds the week end of July 27 to 31.

Rev. W. G. Winton was elected dean of the camp. Miss Helen McFerrin was elected chairman of the program committee, and plans for a good program are now under way. Miss Elsie Gehauf was chosen to head the committee on foods.

It was approximated that the camp would cost a maximum of two dollars a person in money or food. However the fee has not definitely been decided upon.

A committee on enrollment has been appointed to ascertain the number of young people to attend the camp. All the young people of the church are urged to attend this camp.

The plan for the camp will be as near like the Assembly at Massanetta as it will be possible to make it. It will include morning devotions, vespers, candle light services, council fires, and recreational activities, as well as several classes taught on worship, recreation, and some phase of missions.

Further plans for the camp will appear in next week's paper.

Group Conference for District No. 3. of the Woman's Auxiliary Greenbrier Presbytery will meet at the Baxter Church, Dunmore, July 28, at 10 A. M. All Auxiliary members are urged to be present.

Bishop Strider will preach at the Episcopal church, Marlinton, at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night, July 23, and at Clover Lick Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

The Young People of the Marlinton Methidist Church will present a pageant "The Appearing Cross," directed by Mrs Moody Kincaid, Friday evening, July 21, at eight o'clock, in church auditorium. All offering will be appreciated. Proceeds to be used for vestments for the young Peoples' Choir. Everybody invited.

Raymond Church, of Detroit spent the week end with his parents at Cass. Mrs Church and their two children who have been visiting Mrs Church's parents, Mr and Mrs Ben Johnson at Fairview for several weeks, will return home with Mr Church.

Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Richardson are guests at the home of Mr and Mrs E. M. Richardson and other relatives here this week.

Mac Queen's

Announces a very difficult problem.

It's not inflation or the Gold Standard or new taxes—
It's not merchandising on a mixed and fast rising market—
IT'S JUST THIS—Trying honestly and sincerely to convince our customers that this is no flurry, and that buying now means cutting a big slice off their bill for purchases made two or three months from now.

The family which purchases for personal and household use $100 worth of merchandise today, would pay $20 to $40 more for it 60 to 90 days from now. This is positively true.

IN OTHER WORDS—On necessities if you can anticipate your future needs you can save 20 percent to 40 percent by buying at todays prices.

Look At This Comparison

	March 1st	July 16
Wheat	47 1-2	1.26
Corn	24 1-2	.65
Oats	16 1-4	.47 1-2
Cotton	6	.11 1-2
Wool	10	.32
Hides	4 1-4	13 3-4

All other raw materials are up in proportion to these

In addition to these heavy advances we have processing taxes, much higher wages and shorter hours. This all means a vastly higher cost in the production of goods.
